CLIMBING TO NEW HEIGHTS

NZPIF ANNUAL CONFERENCE
14-16 OCTOBER 2016

Climb to new heights in Taranaki in 2016

Set in the beautiful New Plymouth - with a mountain, rivers, surfing, beaches, arts, gardens and breweries—who could ask for more? Come and spend a weekend with us and see why we are a province “like no other”.

Hear how our exciting speakers have climbed to new heights and learn from them how you can do the same.

Martin Ayles - Martin has mastered the art of property developing and investing for profit. His development experience includes completing property developments of all sizes and shapes. He has a successful track record across all facets of property development, including: subdivision, construction, finance and marketing.

Bryce Barnett - Taranaki's own, Bryce built up a large residential portfolio which he used to switch to one of the biggest commercial portfolios in the country. His syndication and management company recently sold to Augusta for over $15 million. Hear how you can use commercial property to climb to new heights.

Wendy Kerr - Is your brain connected for success? Wendy will demystify how the brain works and give you practical tools you can immediately apply to create compelling goals, override your brain's default setting and get into action.

Kay Saville-Smith - Discover who the tenants of the future are through an understanding of what our communities need for the future.
