LEVEL OF INVESTOR ACTIVITY IN THE HOUSING MARKET ABOUT RIGHT

More than a third of bank lending is going to investors, new Reserve Bank data has revealed. "Rather than show that there are too many investors' buying property right now, the Reserve Bank figures show that the level of investor activity is about right," said Grant Harris, President of the Tauranga Property Investors Association. http://www.nzherald.co.nz/bay-of-plenty-times/news/article.cfm?c_id=1503343&objectid=11491208 – 3 August

SKILLED MIGRANTS GOING TO THE REGIONS

The Wairarapa area is popular among Australian migrants and those from the United Kingdom. And Carterton's mayor says the prospect of more migrants for the area is "wonderful". The Government recently announced measures to entice more migrants to the regions. Skilled workers who take jobs or set up businesses in the regions will be given increased bonus points, which are used to calculate whether residency requests should be approved or denied. Statistics New Zealand data shows 443 migrants arrived in the Wairarapa area in the year to June 2015. Australia was their most common country of origin, with 181 migrants. The next most common place of origin was the United Kingdom, with 89 new migrants. Third equal were the Philippines and Canada, with 20 people each. http://www.nzherald.co.nz/wairarapa-times-age/news/article.cfm?c_id=1503414&objectid=11491591 – 4 August

THE UPSIDE HOUSE PRICE RISK - Rodney Dickens is worried about this (Opinion)

The surge in dwelling sales in the rest of NZ is being driven by a range of factors in addition to flight from expensive Auckland housing: the fall in interest rates; the surge in net external migration that is relevant to most parts of the country and not just Auckland and Canterbury; the doubling of KiwiSaver related grants for first home buyers on 1 April; and probably increased activity by investors in general. As normal the increase in sales has eaten into the stock of property for sale, as reflected in the tumble in the numbers of dwelling for sale ads on realestate.co.nz this year shown in the chart. The surge in the number of sales has resulted in a double improvement in the demand-supply balance in the rest of NZ.

HOUSE PRICES ACROSS THE COUNTRY HAVE INCREASED AT THE FASTEST RATE SINCE 2007.

House prices across the country have increased at the fastest rate since 2007. The latest monthly QV House Price Index showed residential property values for July nationwide have increased 10.1 per cent over the past year. Nationally, the average value of houses was $527,760, 27.4 per cent above the previous market peak of late 2007.

POLL REVEALS NZ SELLING STATE-OWNED HOUSES TO AN AUSTRALIAN COMPANY IS UNPOPULAR

The possibility of New Zealand selling state-owned houses to an Australian company is a political hot potato, according to a poll. In June Finance Minister Bill English revealed Australian not-for-profit Horizon Housing is interested in buying as many as 500 state-owned houses in New Zealand. The Nation released results of a Reid Research poll today showing 75 percent of people are against the idea and 21 percent are in favour. Also, 60 percent of National Party voters are against the idea. HOUSE PRICE EXPECTATIONS ARE HIGH ACCORDING TO ASB QUARTERLY SURVEY

House price expectations have reached their highest level yet according to the ASB's quarterly survey of housing market sentiment. A net 65 per cent of respondents expect house prices to rise over the next 12 months, up from 56 per cent in the previous quarter -- the survey's highest reading since it started in 1996. The bank's chief economist, Nick Tuffley, says: "Stronger sentiment outside of Auckland is likely to be reflecting the easing of lending restrictions for the rest of New Zealand, as well as falling interest rates. http://www.nzherald.co.nz/property/news/article.cfm?c_id=8&objectid=11493517 – 8 August

BUILDING BOOM IN WAIPA

Waipa's building boom is set to continue but with limited land available, pressure is mounting on those working in the industry to meet client expectations. From January to June 2015, Waipa District Council issued 171 consents for brand new houses - 102 in Cambridge, 38 for Te Awamutu and Kihikihi and 21 for homes in Pirongia and Ngahinepouri. RPS Homes sales manager Bill Simpson said there was high demand for the firm's land and home packages in Lilac Close in Cambridge. "It's not a speculative demand where there's been a lot of homes built and then just sold off in that kind of market. "It does seem to be genuine, that people are moving to the area from Hamilton or from Auckland." <http://www.stuff.co.nz/business/industries/70930080/waipas-housing-boom-continues-to-soar> - 9 August

STATISTICS SHOW MORE APPROVED MORTGAGES HAVE GONE TO INVESTORS

Since February, 9169 of the 28,515 mortgages approved in New Zealand went to investors. During that period, first home buyers were approved 2783 mortgages. Auckland mortgage broker Christine Lockie said she had seen a marked increase in the number of investors buying properties over the past few years.

"The investors are generally competing against your first home buyers," she said. "Generally speaking, the investors are looking at the typical first home buyer homes rather than the higher priced properties - it certainly helps drive prices up for the lower-priced properties." She said many were doing business before new tax rules come into force in October. <http://www.radionz.co.nz/news/national/279882/investors-dominate-first-home-buyers-in-mortgage-market> - 28 July

ROGER KERR THINKS THIS PROPERTY BOOM IS DIFFERENT TO PROPERTY BOOMS IN THE PAST.

There are many and varied reasons as to why the RBNZ on this current Auckland property boom have no fears of the knock-on inflationary impacts and therefore they have cut interest rates as other more negative and off-setting developments in the economy (e.g. dairy prices) take precedence. The Government and RBNZ are therefore hoping that the situation is containable and the property boom will not burst badly and adversely impact the wider NZ economy.

RESERVE BANK MAY LOOK AT FURTHER MONETARY POLICY EASING

The Reserve Bank today confirmed that at this stage some further monetary policy easing is likely to be required to maintain New Zealand's economic growth around its potential, and return CPI inflation to its medium-term target level. (Mir Wheeler said) The Bank continues to be concerned about the financial stability risks and risks to the broader economy that would be associated with a major correction in Auckland house prices. In the current circumstances, macro prudential policy can be helpful in reducing some of the pressures arising from the Auckland housing market. The proposed LVR measures and the Government's policy initiatives that it announced in the 2015 Budget should begin to ease the impact of investor activity.

CONSTRUCTION ACTIVITY EXPECTED TO TOP $200 billion

A new Government report shows construction activity during the next six years is expected to top $200 billion. The latest National Construction Pipeline Report shows residential construction in Auckland is driving what it describes as a "golden era" for the building industry. The report, commissioned by the Ministry of Business, Innovation and Employment, predicts 80,000 new homes will be built in Auckland by 2020, compared with 30,000 during the past six years.

The report said construction activity next year would be worth a record $37 billion. <http://www.radionz.co.nz/news/national/280018/construction-activity-still-building-report> - 29 July

NEW ASB HOUSING CONFIDENCE REPORT

Despite constantly forging new records, the majority of respondents in a new property report believe prices will continue to increase. ASB's Housing Confidence report, out today, shows a net 65 per cent of respondents expect house prices will increase over the next 12 months. The result is the highest reading since the survey began in 1996 and is despite Auckland's median house price rising a record 26 per cent to $755,000 last month. http://m.nzherald.co.nz/business/news/article.cfm?c_id=3&objectid=11489882 - 31 July
